

Benton County Health Services Notice of Privacy Practices

Your Information • Your Rights • Our Responsibilities

This notice describes how medical information about you may be used and disclosed and how you can get access to this information. Please review carefully

Your Rights

When it comes to your health information, you have certain rights. This section explains your rights and some of our responsibilities to help you.

Get an electronic or paper copy of your medical record:

- You can ask, in writing, to see or get an electronic copy via secure portal (MyChart), secure e-mail or paper copy of your medical record and other health information we have about you.
- We provide a copy or a summary of your health information, usually within 10 business days of your requests. We may charge a reasonable, cost-based fee.
- We may deny your request. If your request is denied you may ask for a review of our denial. The person conducting the review will not be the person who denied your request, and we will comply with the outcome of the review.

Ask us to correct your medical record:

- You can ask us, in writing, to correct health information about you that you think is incorrect or incomplete.
- We may say “no” to your request, but we’ll tell you why in writing within 15 business days.

Request confidential communications:

- You can ask us, in writing, to contact you in a specific way (for example, home or office phone, through MyChart) or to send mail to a different address.
- We will say “yes” to all reasonable requests.

Ask us to limit what we use or share:

- You can ask us, in writing, not to use or share certain health information for treatment, payment, or our business operations.

- We are not required to agree to your request, and we may say “no” if it would affect your care.
- If you pay for a service or health care item out-of-pocket in full, you can ask us, in writing, not to share that information for the purpose of payment or our operations with your health insurer.
 - We will say “yes” unless a law requires us to share that information.

Get a list of those with whom we’ve shared information:

- You can ask, in writing, for a list (accounting) of the times we’ve shared your health information for up to six years prior to the date you ask, who we shared it with and why. You will need to specify the date range you would like an accounting of not to exceed six years prior to the date you ask.
- We will include all the disclosures except for those about treatment, payment, and health care operations, and certain other disclosures (such as any you asked us to make). We’ll provide one accounting a year for free but will charge a reasonable, cost-based fee if you ask for another one within 12 months.

Choose someone to act for you:

- If you have given someone medical power of attorney or if someone is your legal guardian, that person can exercise your rights and make choices about your health information.
- We will make sure the person has this authority and can act for you before we take any action.

File a complaint if you feel your rights are violated:

- You can complain if you feel we have violated your rights by contacting the Privacy Officer at 541-766-6273.
- You can file a written complaint to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office for Civil Rights by sending a letter to 200 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20201, calling 1-877-696-6775, or visiting www.hss.gov/ocr/privacy/hipaa/complaints

Your Choices

For certain health information, you can tell us your choices about what we share. If you have a clear preference for how we share your information in the situations described below, talk to us. Tell us what you want us to do, and we will follow your instructions.

In these cases, you have both the right and choice to tell us to:

- Share information with your family, close friends, or others involved in your care.

- Share information in a disaster relief situation.

For example, we may assume you agree to our disclosure of your personal health information to your spouse when you bring your spouse with you into the exam room during treatment or while treatment is discussed. If you are not able to tell us your preference, for example if you are unconscious, we may go ahead and share your information if we believe it is in your best interest. We may also share your information when needed to lessen a serious and imminent threat to health or safety.

In these cases we never share your information unless you give us written permission:

- Marketing purposes
- Sale of your information

In the case of fundraising:

- We may contact you for fundraising efforts, but you can tell us not to contact you again.

How do we typically use or share your health information? We typically use or share your health information in the following ways.

Our Uses and Disclosures

Treat you:

- We can use your health information and share it with other professionals who are treating you. Example: a doctor treating you for an injury asks another doctor about your overall health condition.

Run our organization:

- We can use and share your health information to run our practice, improve your care, and contact you when necessary. Example: We use health information about you to manage your treatment and services.

Bill for your services:

- We can use and share your health information to bill and get payment from health plans or other entities. Example: We give information about you to your health insurance plan so it will pay for your services.

What are other ways we can use or share your health information? We are allowed or required to share your information in other ways – usually in ways that contribute to the public good, such as public health and research. We have to meet many conditions in the laws before we can share your information for these purposes. For more information see:

Help with public health and safety issues:

- We can share health information about you for certain situations such as:
 - Preventing disease
 - Helping with product recalls
 - Reporting adverse reactions to medications
 - Reporting suspected abuse, neglect, or domestic violence
 - Preventing or reducing a serious threat to anyone's health or safety

Do research:

- We can use or share your information for health research as long as all identifying information is removed. Otherwise we have to get your informed consent to use your information for research.

Comply with the law:

- We will share information about you if state or federal laws require it, including with the Department of Health and Human Services if it wants to see that we're complying with federal privacy law.

Respond to organ and tissue donation requests:

- We can share health information about you with organ procurement organizations

Work with a medical examiner or funeral director:

- We can share health information with a coroner, medical examiner, or funeral director when an individual dies.

Address workers' compensation law enforcement, and other government requests:

- We can use or share health information about you:
 - For workers' compensation claims
 - For law enforcement purposes or with a law enforcement official
 - With health oversight agencies for activities authorized by law
 - For special government functions such as military, national security, and presidential protective services

Respond to lawsuits and legal actions:

- We can share health information about you in response to a court or administrative order, or in response to a subpoena.

If you are an inmate of a jail or prison or under the custody of a law enforcement official, we may give health information about you to that person or jail as required or permitted by law.

Other laws may require your written authorization to disclose certain mental health, alcohol and drug abuse treatment, HIV/AIDS testing or treatment, and genetic testing information.

Our Responsibilities

We are required by law to maintain the privacy and security of your protected health information. We will let you know promptly if a breach occurs that may have compromised the privacy or security of your information.

We must follow the duties and privacy practices described in this notice and give you a copy of it. We will not use or share your information other than as described here unless you tell us we can in writing. If you tell us we can, you may change your mind at any time. Let us know in writing if you change your mind.
